

EXETER
COLLEGE
OXFORD

IBERIAN HISTORY AT OXFORD Michaelmas Term 2020

Cohen Quad, Exeter College

Convenors:

Stephanie Cavanaugh (Exeter College), Giuseppe Marcocci (Exeter College),
Glyn Redworth (Oriel College), and Cecilia Tarruell (Oriel College)

Week One, Wednesday 14 October, 4.30-5.30 pm

Welcome & tea

This online social event will be an opportunity to introduce ourselves to each other and say a few words about our research or intended research, and generally to ask any questions about Oxford or Iberian resources.

Week Three, Wednesday 28 October, 4.30-5.30 pm

Women's agency from medieval Catalonia to the Antilles in the Age of Revolution

This meeting will consist of a group discussion of the following two articles, which will be pre-circulated:

- Alexandra Guerson and Dana Wessel Lightfoot, 'A tale of two Tolranas: Jewish women's agency and conversion in late medieval Girona', Journal of Medieval Iberian Studies (2020)

- Rebecca J. Scott and Carlos Venegas Fornias, 'María Coleta and the Capuchin Friar: Slavery, Salvation, and the Adjudication of Status', William and Mary Quarterly (2019)

The authors of one of the two articles, Alexandra Guerson (University of Toronto) and Dana Wessel Lightfoot (University of Northern British Columbia) will participate in the meeting.

Week Five, Wednesday 11 November, 4.30-5.30 pm

The trial of a Morisco from early seventeenth-century Castile: A conversation with Mercedes García-Arenal

This meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the trial of Jerónimo de Rojas, a selection of which was the subject of two Iberian History meetings in TT 2020. Mercedes García-Arenal (CSIC, Madrid), who is currently preparing the edition of the trial, will give a short introduction, which will be followed by Q&A. A copy of the trial will be pre-circulated among those interested in attending the meeting.

Week Seven, Wednesday 25 November, 4.30-6 pm

Ideas that have changed my research: Thinking Iberian history with Sir John Elliott

This meeting will offer the opportunity to some scholars and students to give a short talk (5-10 minutes) about a book or an article which has particularly inspired their research. A debate will follow.

Please note that all meetings will be held virtually via Teams.

Those who wish to attend can confirm their presence by writing to giuseppe.marcocci@history.ox.ac.uk